The President
The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. President:

Over the years I have joined hundreds of religious and political leaders, from both political parties, seeking the release of Jonathan Pollard.

From everything I can understand the betrayal of CIA secrets by Aldrich Ames was attributed to Jonathan Pollard. Pollard's sentence has been totally disproportionate to any concept of what we have of justice.

I respectfully urge your administration to do the compassionate thing and commute the sentence of Jonathan Pollard to the time he has already served.

I understand that he is quite ill, and unless something is done he may die in federal custody.

Thank you for your consideration. I remain

Sincerely yours,
